Nancy Wynne Comments on Large Ball in Narragansett Pier—Sees a Pretty Dress in Town—Hears of More People Going Away

WELL, there was a large and gorgeous ball at Narragansett Pier last week. It was given at the Casino for the South County Cottage Hospital, and it was quite a wonderful affair. The Casino was all fixed up like a piece of forest with little pointed fir trees. Poor things, I hope they were planted so that they can go on growing. It seems awful to think of taking down the decorations and the woods just to make decorations and then not giving them a chance to grow up, doesn't it?

But anyhow, they "seen their duty" and they done it for everbody's sake. Dorothy Norris and Lisa Norris and Mrs. Francis V. Robinson sold a silver tray during the evening. Lisa Norris ought to go into the business of selling. She is perfectly wonderful about it. Every time anything happens there's Lisa Norris, selling. It may be a silver tray or a woolly lamb, or a cigarette or flowers or Liberty Bonds or Thrift Stamps. If it's to be sold, Lisa is there to sell it. I think it's awfully good-natured of her, for there are few more thankless jobs than that.

There were a number of dinners before the ball. Fifi and Carter Leidy entertained, and Mrs. Archibald G. Thomson. Then Mrs. Frank Samuel gave a dinner and also Mr. John R. Fell, who by the way, offered three handsome silver cups as prizes for the dancing contest. Altogether it was quite a delightful affair.

IT SEEMS to me that there were a lot of people in town last week, and I suppose it was on account of the cool weather we started out with. It made shopping so pleasant. I saw Eleanor Jones one day in New York. Her hair is just a lovely shade of brown and she fixes it so well. Then she had on a dark blue dress with a white design in it, and an awfully nice hat, with a white and blue pattern. Her hat was one of the popular blue silks with flat pink flowers just in the front. It was exactly right for a day in town.

THE Alex Yarnalls are leaving this month—this is this month you know, not last month—for Northeast where they will spend several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Emlen Newbold. Mrs. Yarnall has just come back from visiting her sister, Mrs. George Jones at Amherst, Va. The Yarnalls are very happy down there, right in the m. main-country.

SARAH NEILSON MADEIRA and her two children, of Coolock, St. David's, are also going up to Northeast Harbor. They expect to spend the rest of the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Madrier of Germantown, who have a place up there. Every few days you hear of more wives and children who are going up to some desirable spot in New England, or down on the Jersey coast—and it's always Mrs. So-and-so, with her children. Poor, old husband doesn't get in at all. He just stays home in weather, and his wife and children quarters with some other poor old husband—and usually manages to enjoy himself thoroughly doing it, too.

THERE'LL BE A WALLOP IN WOMEN'S FALL HATS

Color, Shape, Style and Price Will All Have a Jolt, According to Inside Dope. Women's fall hats are going to be the "loudest" things in the way of over-head expense that have been pulled on the willing women and the unwilling men for a decade or more. This is the warning sounded by the millinery forecast for the coming season. The headgear is said to be less expensive and tricky, but none of the less revolting to the old optic centers. It is also understood that only heavy, or perhaps they have had men, just as men had hats, suggested. "Oh, maybe they hunt deer, or other bears, or wolves," replied Billy. "Or perhaps they hunt men, just as men hunt bears," suggested Peggy. "You shall soon see," said Billy, pointing ahead of them. "Lonesome Bear and Toddy Pupkins are waiting for us at the door as we pass by the woods."
